

Abstract

A data storage medium (1) comprises an information carrier which is wound in a spiral fashion and on which information units are provided which can be read optically. The information carrier is optically transparent.

(Figure 1)

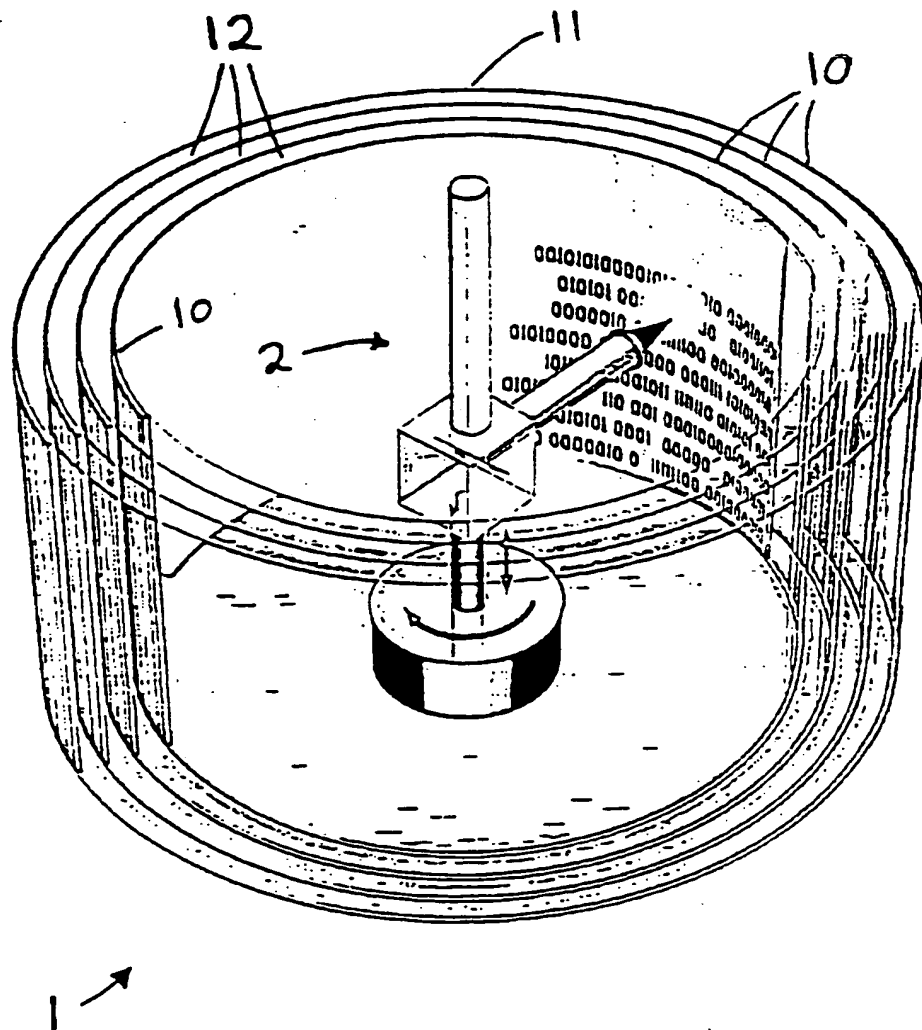

Fig. 1